PRESS RELEASE

FIRST SPEAKERS CONFIRMED

12 / 08 / 2016

Peace Revolution Summit “Empowering Minds for a Sustainable Future” is delighted to present the first two confirmed speakers, who will attend the summit next February 2016 in Thailand, in order to inspire and empower young change makers in their path towards peace activism through personal development.

Alaa Murabit

Nicknamed “The Libyan Doogie Howser” by Jon Stewart, Alaa Murabit is a medical doctor, UN High-Level Commissioner and one of only 17 Sustainable Development Goal Global Advocates appointed by the UN Secretary General.

A champion for inclusive peace processes, Alaa founded VLW at the age of 21 and her programs are now replicated internationally. She acts as advisor to numerous international security boards and organizations and a trustee for International Alert and Keeping Children Safe.

An Ashoka Fellow, Murabit is the youngest Marisa Bellisario International Humanitarian Award recipient, New York Times “International TrustWomen Hero”, Newsweek’s “25 under 25 to watch”, a BBC “100 Top Woman” and SAFE Global Hero. Besides, her TED Talk, “What my religion really says about women” was “Talk of the Day” & one of four “moving TED Talks to watch right now” by New York Times.

Will McInerney

Will McInerney is an award-winning poet, journalist, and educator focusing on the intersection of creative expression and conflict resolution. Will's work has been featured in media outlets, at universities, and on stages across the US and around the world. Will was recently honoured as one of the top six emerging storytellers in America by the International Storytelling Center. In addition to reporting, performing and teaching, Will hosts the popular public radio podcast, Stories with a Heartbeat, where he explores the power of poetry to help us understand conflict.
